SUDI PREVENTION ONLINE TRAINING

- Launched June 2019
- Encouraged the workforce and SUDI prevention champions to register and increase their knowledge in this space.
- Has identified locales where we need to do more promotion.
- Nearly 300 people from overseas have found this training to be of benefit to them. It is likely to be those involved with Indigenous health.
- Midwives and nurses are our highest proportion of registered users.
- COVID-19 - piloting group training sessions.
- Users are not all clinically qualified in maternal and child health, e.g. kaumatua, kuia and whānau demonstrating their mana motuhake in this space.

TE AO M ĀORI: RECONNECTING TO FOSTER MAURI ORA

- Māori SUDI experiences are connected to colonisation and institutional racism
- Amplify the voices of Māori who are working and committed to SUDI Prevention
- Recognise Māori leadership includes weavers, whānau, Māori community & health professionals
- Decentralise health services & relocate them with communities, whānau, hapū and iwi
- Enhance community awareness of holistic Māori wellbeing
- Influence health to be more culturally aware and empowering
- Share insights from mātauranga Māori which inform flourishing healthy pregnancies & families

WAHAKURA: A VEHICLE TO BETTER ENVISION CONCEPTS OF W HĀNAU ORA

- SUDI impacts whānau Māori disproportionately
- Ancestral knowledge offers Māori derived solutions
- Better health outcomes benefit Māori and all people from all nations in Aotearoa
- Wahakura are culturally affirming
- Wahakura are sustainable
- Wahakura support the identity of mokopuna
- Wahakura are informed by Māori ancestral knowledge and practices
- Wahakura are fundamentally tied to reciprocity and Māori relationship with whenua
